About the Music - - -

When composing “The Great Escape”, the composer tried to create an exciting work where listeners can envision all types of escapes. The listener can create a visual picture of a criminal trying to escape from behind bars, or maybe somebody trying to escape danger. One may envision the great Magician , Harry Houdini, trying to do one of his death defying escapes. Whatever it may be, this work was composed to allow the listener to create their own picture of “The Great Escape”.

Rehearsal Notes

I highly encourage that the tempos are kept as close to possible to the marking allotted. Dynamics should be followed very closely to keep the energy flowing. Observe the tempo change at measure 66. This will continue to build the excitement to the end.
