FROM THE CEDARS TO THE MOUNTAINS

About This Composition

Commissioned by the Cedar City High School Symphonic Band, Cedar City, Utah, Steve Shirts, Director, in commemoration of the final year the students of Cedar City and its surrounding area attended one high school.

From the Cedars to the Mountains is an overture depicting the settlement of Cedar City on November 11, 1851 by Mormon pioneers sent to southern Utah to manufacture iron from the abundance of iron deposits in the area. These iron "missionaries" were faced with multiple hardships as they forged a new life in the harsh and cold mountain desert that surrounded them. Due to their determination, resourcefulness and faith, they laid the foundation for a thriving community.

This piece was inspired by the book, "A Trial Furnace – Southern Utah's Iron Mission," by Morris A. Shirts and Kathryn H. Shirts, father and sister-in-law of the commissioning director. "It is a chronicle of the lives of people who transcended the practical, discovering in the wilderness crucible an inner strength and resilience more durable than the iron they came south to find." The Iron Mission ultimately failed, but those who stayed were the foundation that built Cedar City into the cultural and educational center of southern Utah.

From the Cedars to the Mountains premiered March 26, 1997, at Cedar City High School under the baton of its composer.
