Action Brass Series

by Brian Sadler

Action Brass is an exciting trilogy for various brass ensembles. The pieces are composed by Brian Sadler, a former musician in the US Navy, and now currently a music composition student at Arizona State University. Action Brass was originally written just as a fun piece for brass that breaks all of the rules of composition. Plus it's film score-like style gives brass players something new to play besides the standards that they are used to. The debut of Action Brass at ASU was a big hit, and despite the scoffs of the composition professors, Brian wrote Action Brass 2: The Revenge and Action Brass 3: The Standoff, due to popular demand.

Action Brass was inspired by the writing styles of film composers John Debney and Alan Silvestri. Action Brass 2: The Revenge is Hans Zimmer meets numbones. Action Brass 3: The Standoff is a tribute to all those great western scores out there, but with a personal twist to it. So if you like this chapter of Action Brass, be sure to check out the other two!
