About the Music

Handel composed three suites of music for King George I of England to be played by a very large orchestra while floating down the Thames River on a barge, thus the titles of the suites. They were premiered in 1717 at this floating concert. This arrangement includes two of the five movements of Suite No. 2 in D Major.

Please note that the Minuet has been set in the key of G to create more contrast between movements for both students and listeners.

Students should use Baroque-style bowings including martelé on quarters and détaché on eighths. They will also experience bow lifts and contrasting dynamics, low second finger in violin 1, and use of G string for violin 2, viola, and cello. There is no shifting in bass, and an optional trill for the violins at the conclusion of the Bourrée. When comfortable with their technique, students will enjoy picking up the tempo on both movements.
