About the Music

William Byrd, a composer of the 16th/17th century Renaissance, was born in London, England, and wrote a vast spectrum of music, both sacred and secular. The majority of his works were written, at least initially, for keyboard. He spent most of his professional life as an organist and choirmaster and wrote substantial amounts of music for the Anglican Church. He, and colleague Thomas Tallis, teamed up in the 1570's with Thomas Vautrollier, formerly of the French Huguenot publishing firm – then living in England, to begin a publishing venture.

It was from a publication collection such as this, that arranger, Robert McCashin, drew the two movements arranged here. The Pavanne (Earl of Salisbury) and La Volta (The Time) have been paired to offer your students a glimpse into the late 1500's and early 1600's. Music from the Renaissance is striking and alluring. Both performers and audiences will be drawn to its purity and simplistic beauty.
