Ave Maria

Tomas Luis de Victoria

Arranged by James Haynor

Tomas Luis de Victoria was the most famous composer of the 16th century in Spain. He is sometimes known as the "Spanish Palestrina" because he may have been taught by Palestrina. This motet was composed about 1570 and was originally set for four voices. It transcribes beautifully for brass and could be considered a companion piece for the popular O Magnum Mysterium. The trumpet intones the Gregorian chant melody, followed by a jaunty and insistent triple-meter section, which leads to a drawn-out "Amen".
