The Phoenix

N

Heel kleurrijke filmmuziek vol emoties, bestemd voor de concertzaal. Net zoals de mythologische Feniks opnieuw uit zijn as vrijeert, ontstaat er in de natuur telkens nieuw leven vanuit de verschromde aarde. Dit werk is - niet alleen omwille van de actualiteit – aan alle slachtoffers van oorlogen en andere zinloze toestanden gewijd. Uit een koraal ontwikkelen zich bevallige Zuid-oosteuropees tafereltjes. Telkens een nieuwe koraal verschijnt, krijgen we nieuwe taferelen, nieuw leven. Uiteindelijk monden alle thema's uit in een zich langzaam opbouwend strettivo met een groots slot.

„The Phoenix“ voor brassband werd gecomponerd in opdracht van de Swiss Army Brass Band. Een live-opname werd op 2 CD's uitgebracht: AMOS 5877: „Symphonie in Brass II“ evenals AMOS 5880: „Live from Mid Europe“. Op initiatief van Professor Johann Mösenbichler ontstond de versie voor harmonieorkest die in première ging tijdens het Mid Europe Festival in Schladming in 2009, onder de leiding van Verena Mösenbichler.

De legendarische vogel Feniks herrijst telkens uit zijn as en is een symbool voor optimisme en levenskracht. Uit een Zuid-oosteuropese klinkende koraal ontwikkelt zich, na een indrukwekkend middendeel, uiteindelijk een Stretta met een meeslepend slot. Dit stuk is waarschijnlijk omwille van de prachtige glinsterende klankkleuren bij muzikanten van alle leeftijden zeer geliefd.

Here we have a very colourful film music, full of emotion, well suited for the concert hall. Precisely as the mythological Phoenix rises from its ashes, a new life is born out of the scorched earth. This composition is dedicated to all victims of wars and other disastrous situations and not only because of the actual situation in the world. Some scenes from Southeastern Europe develop out of chorale tunes. Each new chorale engenders a new scene, a new life. Finally, all themes result in a slowly growing stretto with a grand finale.

„The Phoenix“ for brass band was commissioned by the Swiss Army Brass Band. A live recording was issued on two CD's: AMOS 5877: „Symphony in Brass II“ and AMOS 5880: „Live from Mid Europe“. It was at Johann Mösenbichler's initiative that a version for symphonic band was premiered at the Mid Europe Festival at Schladming in 2009, Verena Mösenbichler conducting.

The legendary bird called „Phoenix“ rises from its ashes as a symbol of optimism and vitality. From a chorale with Southeastern European characteristics develops an impressive middle part resulting in a stretto with a compelling finale. Because of its splendid brilliant sounds, this composition should be appreciated by musicians of all ages.

THE PHOENIX

Paul Hertel op.64/2

D

Filmmusik für den Konzertsaal, mit kräftigen Farben und starken Emotionen.

So wie sich der sagenhafte Phoenix wieder aus der Asche erhebt, entsteht in der Natur ganz natürlich aus verbrannter Erde immer wieder neues Leben. Dieses Werk ist - nicht nur aus aktuellem Anlass - allen Opfern von Kriegen und sonstigen sinnlosen Auseinandersetzungen gewidmet. Formal entwickeln sich aus einem Choral südosteuropäisch anmutende Illustrationen unterschiedlicher Szenenbilder. Ein neuer Choral entsteht, neue Szenen, neues Leben. Alle Themen münden letztendlich in einer breiten, lange sich aufbauenden Stretta mit fulminantem Schluss.'

"The Phoenix" für Brass Band war ein Auftragswerk der Swiss Army Brass Band. Der Mitschnitt der Liveaufnahme erschien auf 2 CDs: AMOS 5877: "Symphonie in Brass II" sowie AMOS 5880: "Live from MidEurope". Auf Anregung von Herrn Prof. Johann Mösenbichler entstand die Fassung für Symphonisches Blasorchester, die beim Festival MidEurope 2009 in Schladming unter der Leitung von Verena Mösenbichler uraufgeführt wurde.

Der sagenhafte Vogel Phoenix erhebt sich immer wieder aus der Asche und ist ein Symbol für Optimismus und Lebenskraft. Das Stück ist wohl aufgrund der mächtig schillernden Klangfarben und der rhythmischen Kraft bei Musikern jeden Alters beliebt.

F

Musique de film riche en couleurs et en émotions destinée à une salle de concert

Tout comme le légendaire Phénix renait de ses cendres, la nature ressuscite à chaque fois de la terre brûlée avec une nouvelle vie. Non seulement à cause d'événements récents, cette composition est dédiée à toutes les victimes des guerres et autres événements insensés. De charmantes illustrations de différentes scènes du Sud-Est de l'Europe se développent à base d'un chorale. Chaque fois qu'il y a un nouveau chorale, il y a une nouvelle vie. Finalement, au moyen d'un lent "strette", tous les thèmes mènent vers un final fulminant.

"The Phoenix" pour Brass Band est une commande de la Brass Band de l'Armée Suisse. L'enregistrement "Live" est paru chez AMOS (Double CD 5877) "Symphonie in Brass II" ainsi que sur la CD AMOS 5880 "Live from Mid Europe". Cet à l'initiative de Johann Mösenbichler que cette version pour orchestre d'harmonie a été créée à Schladming lors du Festival Mid Europe en 2009, sous la direction de Verena Mösenbichler. Phénix, l'oiseau mythologique, renait à chaque fois de ses cendres et est le symbole de l'optimisme et de la force vitale. A partir d'un chorale à consonance de l'Europe du Sud-Est, se développe, après une partie centrale impressionnante, une stretta menant lentement vers un final entraînant. Grâce à ses imposants coloris sonores, cette composition plaira aux musiciens de tout âge.
