CHRISTMAS EXHILARATION

Christmas Exhilaration was originally written out of necessity for a holiday concert with the brass and percussion of the Victoria Symphony in beautiful British Columbia, Canada. As their Principal Pops Conductor, I am tasked with programming the Pops concerts and during the pandemic had to pivot my ideas like most of us. Our traditional Christmas Pops concert needed to limit the number of performers on stage and thus, we needed music for this smaller ensemble. This version for concert band was a natural adaptation for music of this nature and should fit nicely into many high school and community band holiday programs.

O Come All Ye Faithful is a traditional favorite and a perfect choice to build a Christmas concert opener around. I was excited to fit this melody into 6/8 meter and to play with the rhythm a bit to create an exciting, fanfare-like quality.

The work begins with some bell tones reminiscent of the Christmas bells from such movies as "It's a Wonderful Life." A few angels will get their wings after this piece is finished... The bell tones then start to vary their rhythms to create a brilliant tapestry of sound that welcomes quotes of Joy to the World to the mix.

We hear the melody in its entirety for the first time in the horns and alto saxophones starting at bar 45. Some harmony and rhythmic alterations add some fresh interest to such a familiar melody. The melody is both lyrical and rhythmic to create some contrast in the sound as well. The bell tones return at bar 89 but have a new sense of urgency here that leads us to a quote of Joy to the World at bar 95 that challenges our harmonic center. The bell tones return one final time at bar 107 to tie this brief but powerful Christmas opener up in a bow.
