Selections from Children's Corner Suite

Debussy's Children's Corner Suite was composed between 1906 and 1908. He dedicated it to his daughter, Claude-Emma, with the following inscription: "To my dear little Chouchou with her father's apologies for what is to follow." Debussy's daughter outlived her father by only one year, dying in 1919 at the age of fourteen. These lovely works continue to captivate listeners and performers of all ages.

Dr. Gradus ad Parnassum

Debussy is perhaps suggesting a child's frustrating struggles with exercises from Clementi's Gradus ad Parnassum. Debussy, perhaps with tongue in cheek, termed this piece "a kind of progressive hygienic, gymnastic exercise to be played every morning."

Measures 3–6: Show a clear difference in touches between the eighth-note staccato top notes in measures 3 and 4 and the legato quarter notes in measures 5 and 6.

Measures 67 and 69: The editor takes the A's with the right hand.

Serenade for the Doll

This piece was first published separately in 1906 and is a tribute to one of his daughter's favorite dolls.

It is quite possible to play this piece entirely without damper pedal until reaching Debussy's indication for it in measures 121–123.

Measures 1–13: Keep the E-Bs uniformly even in dynamics, except for the sudden forte in measure 8. Do not let them follow the dynamics in the melody.

Measure 13: Taking the last E-B with the right hand will help ensure that there is no crescendo or accent before the sudden forte in measure 14.

Measure 66–105: Pay close attention to which notes are rolled. For instance, in measures 83–84 there are rolls in the left hand, in measures 86–89 no rolls, and in measures 90–92 rolls in both hands.

Measures 107–114: Carefully observe the sudden shifts of dynamics in the right hand.

TWO ARABESQUES

Arabesque I

CLAUDE DEBUSSY
Edited by Joseph Banowetz

Andantino con moto (♩ = 126–132)*

The musical score for 'Two Arabesques, Arabesque I' by Claude Debussy is presented in four systems. The key signature is E major (three sharps) and the time signature is 3/4. The tempo is marked 'Andantino con moto' with a metronome indication of 126–132 quarter notes per minute. The score begins with a piano (p) dynamic. The first system features a triplet in the right hand. The second system includes a ritardando (rit.) and mezzo-piano (mp) section. The third system begins with pianissimo (pp) and 'a tempo' marking. The fourth system includes a 'poco a poco cresc.' (poco a poco crescendo) section followed by a piano (p) section. Fingerings and articulation marks are provided throughout.

* Debussy gave no metronome indication.
